

Your dream closet — from your imagination to reality!

Prepare Your Space.

You've finally done it! You've purchased your freedomRail® closet so it's time to get the space ready for installation. Whether you're getting a new pantry shelving system or refreshing your walk-in closet with adjustable freedomRail, you need to start with a clean slate.

1. Clear your current space.

Take everything, and we mean everything, out of your closet. This is an ideal opportunity to purge unused or old items. Donate any gently-used clothing that no longer fits or that you haven't worn in the past year. Throw away clothes that are beyond repair.

Reference Organized Living's Ultimate Closet Purging Guide as a reference as you're going through your bedroom closet!

2. Take inventory.

After you've cleared your current space and purged your old or unused items, take inventory of all items remaining. Group like-items together by category to ensure an accurate count. Creating an inventory will allow you to form a game plan on how you want to store items in your new closet.

3. Prep, patch and paint.

Channel your inner-handyman and get to work taking down the old system. There's a good chance that when you remove it, holes will be left after removal. To repair the holes, patch them with spackle. When the spackle is dry, sand down any excess spackle to smooth. Make sure the walls are clean and primed before you paint. Tip: Choose a paint that brightens up the space and is a reflection of your style.

That's it... your space is ready!

Organized Living freedomRail adjustable storage system is a breeze to install, but if you're not entirely confident, find a local dealer to work with you.
